

Deposit in Danske eBank with 0.1% higher interest

Everyone who signs a Term deposit (interest payments at the end of period) or Term deposit (monthly basis interest payments) agreement via Danske eBank is paid 0.1 percent higher interest than signing the same agreement at a branch of the Bank. The interest rate bonus is not applicable at the time of automatic extension of the deposit. To extend the deposit agreement and receive a 0.1 percent higher interest, enter into a new term deposit agreement via Danske eBank.

To sign a deposit agreement via Danske eBank, choose Transactions / Deposits from the menu and take the following steps:

1. In the new window Deposits choose the desired type of deposit and click on the button New Contract.

2. Choose Account (Lithuanian litas, euros or US dollars) that will be debited with the deposit and click on Continue. The interest and the deposit after the agreement expires will be transferred to the same account.

3. In the window that opens get acquainted with the terms of the agreement and fill in the following fields:
  - Amount – enter the deposit amount in numbers (the minimum amount is 500 Lt or an equivalent in another currency).
  - Term – indicate the period of deposit agreement (the minimum period is 30 calendar days). Click on the date and choose the year, month and day in the calendar that opens. After choosing the day, the calendar will close automatically.
  - Automatically Renewed Contract's Amount – you can choose automatic extension of the deposit period, or indicate that the agreement should not be extended. The agreement is automatically extended under the same terms, except for the annual interest rate paid for the deposit (please see the agreement for more information).

4. Click on the button Show.
